2.1 Introduction

A. Overview, purpose or need

Drug abuse is a serious problem in the State of Hawaii, and current policies and practices in the criminal justice system have not adequately addressed the issue. Within Hawaii's criminal justice system, there is a major shift in philosophy on how to deal with the needs of drug offenders.

The research in the area of substance abuse demonstrates the destructive impact of alcohol and other substance abuse on personal health and health care costs, the spread of communicable disease, educational performance and attainment, work force participation, safety and productivity in the workplace, and financial stability. These indicators of social erosion are in turn related to crime in many obvious ways, but are hard to measure. Given the recognized relationship between crime and substance abuse and addiction, it is necessary and appropriate to use, adapt, and expand the resources and remedies available within the criminal justice system to address the problem of substance abuse dependency, and thereby to help reduce the demand for illicit drugs and the incidence of drug-related crimes.

Studies reveal that a large percentage of persons who are arrested for both drug and nondrug offenses (such as thefts, burglaries, robberies, assaults, rapes, and homicides) test positive for recent drug use. Adults who are under the influence of a controlled substance or alcohol commit many offenses to raise revenues to support their habits. Some mind- and mood-altering drugs induce criminal and often-violent behavior, reducing the person's inhibitions as well as the person's ability to anticipate future consequences, thereby undermining the deterrent thrust of the criminal law.

Finally, some crimes, including crimes of violence, are committed in the normal course of conducting illicit drug businesses and enterprises. These include strong-arm robberies and "rip-offs," violent retaliations for these offenses, and efforts to protect markets and "turf" by means of intimidation and terrorism directed against "would be" competitors and drug purchasers who patronize competing drug distributors.

Most addicted offenders who are convicted of serious crimes and who are sentenced to terms of imprisonment will eventually be released back into the community either on parole or at the expiration of their sentences. Without proper treatment, an offender is at risk to continue to be drug dependent and to commit new offenses, resulting in further injury to victims, loss of property, and the expenditure of limited resources to identify, apprehend, prosecute, and return the offender to confinement.

The Hawaii Paroling Authority is responsible for supervising a parole population of more than 900. During fiscal year 2025, there were two-hundred and fifty-seven (257) parole violation hearings statewide. Of these 257 hearings, about eighty-five (85) percent of the violations, were for drug related reasons.

The State of Hawaii has incorporated a continuum of “best practice-evidence based” services as opposed to the reliance on a single program intervention. The designed continuum of care service delivery system comprises of substance abuse education programming for the low-risk offender, standard and intensive outpatient programming for the medium-to-low-risk offender and day treatment, short-term and long-term residential treatment for high-risk offenders. This service delivery continuum is based on the assessment and matching process that is critical in the effort to maximize positive client outcomes and the effective use of funding, time and resources. This criteria will be loosely based on LSI-R scores, as many parolees score in the low to moderate category.

The Hawaii Paroling Authority believes that based upon all of the available research, if a parolee’s substance abuse problem is left untreated, their likelihood for succeeding on parole is severely diminished. By treating this significant criminogenic need, the parolees’ ability to conform to the terms and conditions of his/her parole will be greatly enhanced. A continuum of gender appropriate multi-disciplinary treatment services for male and female parolees is critical in providing a smooth transition from incarceration to parole. This continuum of gender appropriate services shall include (but not be limited to) Residential, Day treatment, Intensive Outpatient, Outpatient, and Aftercare. This continuum of treatment services will permit the service provider to match the parolee with the appropriate level of treatment, depending on the extent of the substance abuse problem.

B. Planning activities conducted in preparation for this RFP

Pursuant to Hawaii Administrative Rules (HAR), Chapter 3-142-202(e), compliance with the issuance of a request for information has been waived on the basis that the following have remained unchanged: target population for services; the geographic location; and the scope of services.

C. Description of the service goals

The goal of the program is to prevent re-incarceration, by providing parolees with histories of substance abuse, the skills to assist them in remaining drug and alcohol free. The applicant shall develop an individualized treatment plan for each male

There are currently about Two-Hundred-Fifty (250) violent parolees on parole. All referrals must come from the Hawaii Paroling Authority. All clients shall have been assessed by the Hawaii Paroling Authority as being at medium-to-high risk for recidivism, due to the presence of substance dependence, and shall meet the DSM-V criteria for substance abuse dependence. All clients in any level of treatment shall meet the most current version of the American Society for Addiction Medicine (ASAM Criteria) for admission, continuance, and discharge.

The time element of the violent act will not be a factor. Providers will receive appropriate written information regarding violent offenses upon assessment/admission.

The scope of work encompasses the following tasks and responsibilities:

A. Service Activities

(Minimum and/or mandatory tasks and responsibilities)

1. The overall rehabilitation approach of the offender treatment shall be cognitive and behavioral with heavy emphasis on relapse prevention. The therapeutic approach shall be holistic, with a focus on the bio-psycho-social needs of the parolees (physical, mental, social, emotional, familial, and spiritual). Services shall be designed to help offenders change their thought process, attitudes, values and behaviors from negative and dysfunctional to positive and self-fulfilling. Treatment services shall follow the principles of effective treatment intervention, based in part on the National Institute on Drug Abuse principles of drug addiction treatment as follows:

- Assessment of offenders, to include risk of re-offending, substance abuse treatment needs, and criminogenic needs are essential
- Match level of services to level of risk
- Match treatment with appropriate levels of care that meet individual needs based on assessment of parolee characteristics, such as learning style, and responsivity
- Treatment models should be research based and include social learning and cognitive behavioral techniques
- Relapse/recidivism prevention of both substance abuse and criminal behaviors needs to be the focus of treatment
- Treatment must target criminogenic issues, such as antisocial attitudes, chemical dependency, criminal companions, physical and mental health, social relationships, vocational/financial, residence/neighborhood, and education
- Length of stay in treatment must be sufficient for change to occur, but not so long as to reduce treatment effectiveness
- Treatment providers must be responsive to the parolee population and goals of the overall program
- Possible drug use during treatment must be monitored continuously
- Medications are an important element of treatment for many, especially when combined with counseling and behavioral therapies
- Aftercare is essential

2. The multiple substance abuse treatment services for parolees shall be comprehensive and include a continuum of services such as Initial Screening and Assessment Services, Residential Day Treatment, Day Treatment, Intensive Outpatient, Outpatient, Therapeutic and Aftercare modalities as defined below.

Services under this section shall be provided to only those parolees referred to by the Hawaii Paroling Authority.

a. Initial Screening and Assessment Services

The applicant shall conduct screening and assessment services of parolees referred to for treatment within fourteen (14) days of referral and shall not exceed one hour per individual.

Assessment results shall be present in writing to the referring parole officer within five (5) working days of the assessment session. Based on the assessment results, plans shall be developed for those individuals who have been identified as having moderate to serious substance abuse problems. Provider shall invoice for all initial assessments completed on parolees whether or not the parolee is admitted into treatment.

Treatment plans shall include problem areas to be addressed in treatment, treatment services recommended (group, individual, and family counseling), projected time in treatment, short- and long-range treatment goals, and shall measure a parolee's progress in treatment.

1. The first and last name of the offender
2. The date of the report
3. The time period the report covers

Each progress report for each inmate shall be stamped CONFIDENTIAL in the upper right corner on the first page. Reports shall focus on the content of the individual's progress. Progress reports for group sessions will include the stated goals covered during the reporting period; the parolee's improved performance to reach the stated goal; any problems (i.e. when parolees lack the support of their family members in treatment) encountered during the reporting period, and how these problems were addressed. Inadequate progress reports will be grounds for contract termination.

Upon acceptance to applicant's program, parole officers shall provide a copy of the (LSI-R) to the applicant. Applicant shall openly communicate with the referring parole officer.

The applicant shall immediately notify the referring parole officer when a parolee is not accepted into the program, when parolees do not contact the program, when parolees are terminated or when parolees do not attend their initial sessions within five (5) working days of the referral.

As ruled by the Office of Information Practices, the Hawaii Paroling Authority may withhold from inspection by the parolee or his attorney, all confidential progress reports, assessment reports, and treatment recommendations provided by the applicant, unless instructed otherwise by the Department of the Attorney General.

Whenever the applicant is requested by the offender, his/her family, or his/her attorney, to provide assessment reports or treatment progress reports to the parolee, his family, or his attorney, the applicant shall inform the requesting party that such reports are the property of the Hawaii Paroling Authority, and that all requests should be directed to the contracting officer. The applicant shall notify the contracting officer that such a request was made. The applicant shall not release such reports directly to the parolee or to any party representing the parolee. Hawaii Revised Statutes Chapter 92 Section F-22 (1) (B) prohibits the release of confidential records that were previously submitted to criminal justice agencies.

and other ancillary and special services. This level of care provides the offender with the opportunity to participate in a structured therapeutic program while being able to remain in the community.

Day Treatment shall provide a minimum of twenty (20) hours per week of face-to-face treatment and activities with a minimum of one (1) individual counseling session per week. The other nineteen (19) hours of face-to-face activities shall include, but not limited to group counseling, education, skill building, recreational therapy and family services. A maximum of three hundred and twenty (320) hours to be provided.

Professionally directed evaluation, treatment, case management, and recovery services are provided to clients with less problematic substance abuse related behavior that would be found in a residential or day treatment program.

Outpatient Programs consist of:

- Individual Counseling, which provides the utilization of special skills by a clinician to assist individuals and/or their families/significant others in achieving treatment objectives through the exploration of alcohol and other drug problems and/or addiction and their ramifications, including an examination of attitudes and feelings, consideration of alternative solutions and decision making, and/or discussing didactic materials with regard to alcohol and other drug related problems.

- Group Counseling, which provides the utilization of special skills by a clinician to assist two or more individuals and/or their families/significant others in achieving treatment objectives through the exploration of alcohol and other drug problems and/or addiction and their ramifications, including an examination of attitudes and feelings, consideration of alternative solutions and decision making, and/or discussing didactic materials with regard to alcohol and other drug related problems.
- Family/Couple Counseling, which provides counseling for alcohol and/or drug treatment with a client's family member or significant other, typically delivered as a scheduled hourly event. In some instances, the client may not be present during these sessions.
- Skills Development, which provides activities to develop a range of skills to help maximize client community integration and independent living. Services may be provided in individual or group settings. They need not be scheduled events but may be applied in the context of other normal activities, such as education or employment.
- Case Management, which provides services to assist and support clients in developing their skills to gain access to needed medical, social, educational and other services essential to meeting basic human services, linkages and training for the client served in the use of basic community resources, and monitoring of overall service delivery. Staff whose primary function is case management, generally provide this service.

An Outpatient Program regularly provides between one (1) and eight (8) hours per client per week of face-to-face treatment and one (1) hour of scheduled individual counseling per client per month. The scheduling of one (1) hour per client per week of individual counseling is recommended when clinically indicated.

f. Aftercare

A reduced intensity Outpatient Program, for purposes of this RFP referred to as "Aftercare," provides a minimum of one (1) hour per client per week of face-to-face treatment, generally in a group setting, prior to clinical discharge, for a twenty-four-week period, although there may be variations according to individual transitional plan of each parolee. Aftercare groups will be no more than 20 participants.

Aftercare is essential. APPLICANTS shall develop an aftercare component for those parolees that have been discharged from the intensive outpatient and/or outpatient treatment phase of the program. A strong support system needs to be established to maintain an abstinent lifestyle and prevent the parolees from reverting back to old patterns of dealing with stressful situations. The establishment of a group support system with professional guidance will provide a framework that will strengthen an effective social support system, health and coping skills.

Aftercare sessions will focus upon personal stress factors, vocational and family issues, and relapse prevention strategies. Aftercare services are open-ended. The groups will be offered continuously with participants starting and stopping according to their transitional treatment.

Applicants will work with the Hawaii Paroling Authority to develop a mechanism for transitioning each parolee to appropriate treatment in the community. Proposals must describe the following items:

9. The applicant shall routinely make available tuberculosis (TB) services to all clients either directly or through arrangements with public or nonprofit agencies. If the program is unable to accept a person requesting services, the program shall refer the person to a provider of TB services.
