

How you empower your entire organization is entirely up to you.

One size does not fit all within behavioral health, health and human service, and rehabilitative service organizations, and we have the knowledge base to prove that. Our perspective is informed by our deep category experience, shared learnings from our responsive customer service team, and interactions with our active user communities. We design and develop solutions optimized for behavioral health and human services organizations—but all three of our platforms factor in a high degree of configurability so that providers can adapt their system according to their unique workflow needs.
